

AUSTRIANS ROUTED BY ALLIED ARMY

THIRTEEN THOUSAND PRISONERS CAPTURED BY ALLIES; MANY GUNS ALSO TAKEN—HAVE CROSSED PIAVE RIVER.

NAB 15,000 AUSTRIANS

Last Line of Austro-Hungarian Resistance Broken by Allies This Morning; Army In Complete Rout.

With the Allied Forces on the Piave, Oct. 29.—The last lines of the Austro-Hungarian resistance on the central positions along the Piave river were broken today by the British, French and Italian forces.

Italian Headquarters on the Piave, Oct. 29.—15,000 prisoners had been taken by the British, Italian and French up to a late hour today in the advance across the Piave which for the third time in one year is the scene of a desperate battle. This time however the tables are turned against the Austrians who are steadily being pressed back from the eastern bank of the river.

Battle for Five Days
The battle now has been going on for five days and has been marked by the desperate resistance of the Austrians. They have directed their artillery fire against pontoon bridges thrown across the river and their fighting airplanes also have been a trouble for the allies. The allies not only have had to battle against the swift river current, but also to contend with the renewed efforts of the Austrians to break through the pontoon bridges.

Once across the river the allies have had to overcome strong Austrian trench positions and machine gun posts.

Prisoners Ignorant
Austrian prisoners declare that they know nothing of the political situation at home and the effort of their government to negotiate a peace. The Austrian army post office is said to have stopped the delivery of all mail some time ago.

Cross Piave River
Although facing a severe cannonade and strong machine gun fire, the allied troops succeeded in affecting a crossing of the Piave. The British, Italian and French soldiers are in the best of spirits and are continuing to advance. All roads leading to the mountain or the Piave are crowded with heavy masses of troops, guns and other war material, according to the latest official dispatch.

Whenever a staff automobile rushed by at 60 miles an hour it is a common sight among soldiers to exclaim, "The Austrians are trying to beat us to Vienna."

Started October 19th
The present battle of the Piave began officially October 19th, but heavy fighting and action had been going on since the anniversary of Caporetto and the beginning of the retreat to the Piave. The Italian official statement of the night has been reported in the official communiqué, owing to weather conditions which threaten a drive in the Piave.

Thanks to the fair weather of the last two days the army has been left several miles behind the region south-west of Pontello. Movement across the river in force are increasing steadily and in the last of the night the Austrians are being driven back from the Piave.

"What use to say that all roads lead to Rome!" said an Italian General, speaking of the new advance.

All Roads Taken
But now it appears that all roads lead toward the land of the barbarians. Traffic has been so well organized that there has been scarcely an interruption. The vast network of roads leading to the plains of the Piave are filled with soldiers and trucks carrying war material. When a bomb or shell drops on the road the drivers are quickly removed and the bodies are taken to the rear. The Austrians are being driven back from the Piave.

King Under Fire
Italian Headquarters on the Piave. King Victor Emmanuel saw the allied soldiers make the difficult crossing of the Piave river. He was dressed in a uniform made of the same material as that the private soldiers.

The king was under the fire of the Austrian guns and was at various points where gas shells and shrapnel were falling. He spent much time near where there was a heavy bombardment to prevent the allied passage of the river.

Great Battle Raging
Vienna. A great battle is raging on the front of the Austro-Hungarian army. The official statement to the effect that the Austro-Hungarian army is being driven back from the Piave is being repudiated.

American in Reserve
Italian Headquarters on the Piave. American soldiers are in reserve along the Piave fighting zone. The American army is being held in reserve for an American battle plan which is being carried out through its "setting up" exercises this morning, near the river.

Yankers Will Enter
Washington.—American troops are on the verge of active participation in the great war on the third major front. This was the interpretation placed here today of news from the Italian Headquarters that the American army is being held in reserve behind the British and Italian forces now driving across the Piave.

War at a Glance

ITALIAN ADVANCE.—Suddenly shifting the direction of the attack, the Italian and British troops on the Piave river have crossed the Piave river over a wide front and are driving a wedge into the Austrian line in the direction of the city of Oderzo. When the storm center of the allied attack was apparently between the Brenta and Piave rivers. Between the Montello plateau and the point where the battle line leaves the Piave mountain before the line there was some hard fighting and it seemed probable that the allied effort to break through would be exerted in a northerly and northeasterly direction. This evidently was the intention of the Austrian command, which rushed troops into the Monte Pertica region and regained some of the ground lost in the first onslaught.

THE GREAT ATTACK.—Then came the development and what seemed to be the real attack. It was along the Piave river below the Montello plateau, where the Austrian armies met the allied forces on June and July. The river has been slightly negotiated and the official statement shows that the allies are over three miles eastward of the line which held the eastern bank for approximately seven miles. Oderzo, the objective point, is an important railroad center and its capture by the allies would probably result in an enforced retreat of the Piave river to the sea. It is also probable that a readjustment of the line northward would become necessary.

FRENCH DEVELOP. LINE.—The French are developing the successes won by General Debeney's army below Guise on Saturday and Sunday when the German lines were pierced and the enemy was forced to retire from the sharp salient which he has been stubbornly holding. Reports indicate further progress by General Debeney in this sector and at the same time it seems that the French forces along the line of the Aisne have received orders to drive the Germans back on their lines of communication running in the direction of Hirsone.

AMERICAN UNITS.—American units have joined with the French in this sector and have advanced upwards of a mile in their particular sector. It would seem that the British south of Valenciennes have reached a point nearer the obstacle of attack. The line of the Scheldt to the northward may be turned, if Field Marshal Haig's prospects along the line set for them when the Bulgarian question was disposed of Austria will have to agree, officials say to the following:

Immediate demobilization of her armies. Guarantees that these troops will not be used against the Croats, the Slovenes, the Czechs or the Roumanians.

Free use of the Austrian national railways by the entente. Austrian fortified cities by international troops, pending the calling of a peace conference.

Surrender to the allied forces of the big Austrian gun and munition centers so that the German supply of Austrian made war supplies would be ended.

Surrender to the allied Mediterranean naval forces of the big Austrian naval bases in the Adriatic to be held until the peace council determines action on the naval plans.

Granting permission for the movement of the allied troops through Austria for such use against Germany as Austria's own officials desire.

It is assumed here that the Austrian terms will be close along these drastic lines, although, of course, the military and political officials will be framing the exact language that will be used.

The Austrian note of yesterday accepted almost all the conditions set forth by President Wilson in his note of October 18 was expected to be delivered to Secretary Lansing some time today. It was believed that his main reply, however, cannot be written until he has received from the supreme council the terms upon which Austria will be granted a truce.

With Austria about out of the war, officials today for the first time were beginning to admit that possibly the end of the great conflict here was near. This still is a wide difference of opinion as to the German situation. Many officials here profess to believe that her appeals for peace are only a delaying tactic and that the government still is continuing its endeavor to lure the allies into premature peace negotiations. However, there is a growing feeling that the Austrians have been informed that, while this may have been the original intention of the German control, their hand has been forced by the outbreak of their armies by the allied forces on the western front. The socialists and other radicals are increasing their demands for peace and are openly threatening the government, according to all information reaching this city, while their leaders are openly defying the government.

For the first time in the history of Imperial Germany the Kaiser has been openly denounced on the streets of Berlin and no effort was made to suppress the demonstrators. The incendiary nature of the speeches which marked the home coming of Dr. Liebknecht. This is pointed to by those who see the complete surrender of Germany as imminent as proof of that peace is coming.

One thing certain in the minds of officials here, is that if any peace is granted to Germany, it will be only when she furnishes actual guarantees that will absolutely render her armies impotent to renew the struggle should the peace terms, when they are made, be broken. The German government, officials believe that the allied military experts will demand occupation of Heligoland and the Kiel canal; occupation of Metz and other important German fortresses and demobilization of the army coupled with the surrender of all U-boat boats to the allies. Whether the German military will submit to man military control or not, the big question upon which officials and diplomats here differed. But, as some of those who "shoot her bolt" and is ready for peace at any cost, pointed out, whether she accepts these terms now or some months from now, does not much matter. Eventually she must. And now that she must fight on alone if she decides to fight, the inevitable end has been brought nearer.

Allied Representatives at Versailles Will Tell Austria What to Expect to Secure an Armistice

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 28. The center of international developments had shifted today from Washington to Versailles. The military authorities there representing the United States and the entente allies, will have then extant regarding peace developments. They will tell Austria how she can secure an immediate peace on the basis of unconditional surrender. They will frame, for the approval of the vote of the "big four" of the supreme council, and Field Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the allied army, the guarantees which must accompany any armistice arranged with Germany. The voting members of the "big four" are President Wilson, represented by person Col. E. M. House; Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, Premier Clemenceau of France and Premier Orlando of Italy. The vote of the president on the casting of House, but on matters of supreme importance it is expected to be cast by cable, as the white house will be in direct communication with Paris during all the deliberations.

Official Washington today accepted as a fact that Austria and Turkey are out of the war. Turkey still is negotiating but there is a complete lack of interest here as to what the Ottoman government may or may not do.

The Turkish problem is one which, after all, must be settled at the peace conference which will fix for all future time, the Balkan question that had kept all Europe in a turmoil for generations. Because of this fact there was little desire today on the part of officials here to discuss Turkey at all.

The Turks undoubtedly will be driven from their present position in the Balkans by the allied forces along the Dardanelles internationalized. But that all is in the future. An peace conference will decide just how it all will be done. The one thing of supreme interest here today was what action will be taken to give Austria the peace she has been asking for.

Must be Demanded from Germany before there can be any further negotiations. Versailles, of course, will have the say in the two problems there was much speculation here today on both. It was accepted that in the case of Austria the demand for unconditional surrender would be made. The lines set for them when the Bulgarian question was disposed of Austria will have to agree, officials say to the following:

Immediate demobilization of her armies. Guarantees that these troops will not be used against the Croats, the Slovenes, the Czechs or the Roumanians.

PRESIDENT AWARDS NEW PEACE NOTE

INTEREST IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES CENTERED ON NEW PEACE NOTE FROM AUSTRIA—OFFICIAL TEXT NOT RECEIVED.

COMPLETE SURRENDER

London Papers Claim That Austria's New Peace Note to United States is Equivalent to Unconditional Surrender.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Interest in official circles today was centered on the new peace note from Austria, reported in press dispatches to be on its way to Washington through the medium of the Swedish government. Though no official announcement has yet been made it was considered as certain no answer would be made to the latest communication from Germany delivered yesterday to President Wilson.

No Signs of Break.
Though the Austrian note, according to the unofficial text, goes far beyond any of the German peace proposals, in that it asks the President to begin immediate negotiations for an armistice without awaiting further exchanges with Germany, many officials saw no signs of the unexpected break in the alliance of the central powers.

British View.
London.—Austria's reply to President Wilson is viewed as unconditional surrender.

Independent State.
Copenhagen.—An independent and anti-dynastic state has been formed in Hungary under the leadership of Count Michael Karolyi, in agreement with the Czechs and South Slavians, according to Vienna reports received by the Politiken. In a speech at Budapest, Karolyi declared he had presented his program to the Hungarian people and that he had refused to accept it. Karolyi thereupon put into effect his plan for an independent state.

The Reichstag on Saturday amended the constitution by placing the military authorities under the control of the civil government. The measure was passed by a large majority.

Austria's Reply.
Basel, Oct. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Austrian note to President Wilson, sent yesterday through the Swedish government, follows:

In reply to the note of President Wilson of the 19th of this month, addressed to the Austro-Hungarian government, and giving the decision of the supreme council of the allied forces on the question of an armistice and of peace, the Austro-Hungarian government declares that it is prepared to accept the terms of the preceding proclamations of the president and adheres also to the same point of view concerning the peace conference.

The Austrian note of yesterday accepted almost all the conditions set forth by President Wilson in his note of October 18 was expected to be delivered to Secretary Lansing some time today. It was believed that his main reply, however, cannot be written until he has received from the supreme council the terms upon which Austria will be granted a truce.

Will Erect Emergency Hospital in Midst of Forest Fire Territory

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Superior, Wis., Oct. 29.—An emergency hospital will be at once opened in the midst of the ruins of burned in Cloquet, Minn., under the directions of Adjutant General Rhinow, of Minnesota, to halt the rapid spread of influenza among refugees of the fire swept area. Adjutant Rhinow, with a party of doctors and nurses rushed to the scene by Governor Burnquist to take charge of the situation, passed through Superior this morning. A special car has been provided to house the party at Cloquet.

Clashes between the different nationalities of Austria-Hungary and the entente powers is considered unavoidable.

Gigantic Movement.
What is reported as a "gigantic movement" has broken out. Its nature is yet only partly known. But it is said to be evident that the Magyar national council has proclaimed its dictatorship and that the president of this body has been given the mission of making this decision known to Emperor Charles. The young Magyars are forcing the emperor to abdicate and the people in the streets of Budapest are demanding the denunciation of the political alliance with Germany.

Copenhagen.—Archduke Joseph has issued a proclamation stating that Emperor Charles has charged him with the task of securing the complete independence of Hungary, a dispatch from Budapest says.

SOLDIER ENTITLED TO LAST FAREWELL

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS]

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 29.—Soldiers departing for overseas should not be deprived of that last, silent salute provided for in Article 1 of the Geneva Convention as arranged by Captain Daniel Cupid, is the emphatic opinion of Recorder George E. Johnson.

Recorder Johnson handed down this somewhat momentous opinion in the case of Miss Ruby Young, twenty-one years old, who was charged with kissing her soldier sweetheart farewells in an automobile in front of her home. Patrolman McKinney, who made the arrest, said he was guided to an extent by the improbability of the administration's salute and partly by a fear that the mere fact of accusation might serve to undo much that the city has done towards the patriotic spirit of its citizens.

Neither consideration weighed with Judge Johnson. The judge's decision followed immediately on the hearing of the charge. Ruby Young was fined $100 and ordered to pay the costs of the case. Ruby wanted to kiss her soldier farewells far be it from his court to interfere. The case was dismissed.

CANINE HOWLS PUTS END TO BAND CONCERT

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS]

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Owing to the ban being placed on indoor gatherings during the influenza epidemic members of the Musicians' Union, in practicing for massed band concerts to be held in the downtown district of the city, were forced to open their doors to the public in the lots in which to try over their music.

No sooner had the players set up their music stands and the leader called for the start of the first tune than half a dozen dogs from the neighborhood gathered about and set up a prolonged howl. The musicians moved to another lot. So did the dogs. This time the dogs arrived from other neighborhoods. A second move was made and the same escort followed the bandmen.

After trying six or seven lots the dogs audience had grown to such proportions that their howling drowned out the music and the musicians had to beat a retreat for home.

MAY ENTER GERMANY THROUGH BACK DOOR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 29.—In a decision filed on Saturday, Judge W. J. Quinn decided in favor of the plaintiffs in the suit of John and Maud Huberg against William Huberg, Anton Heine, James W. Moore and George C. Neving, a lawsuit involving more money than any suit ever tried in Brown county. Judge Quinn of the circuit court in the cases while sitting for Judge Henry Strauss of Green Bay. The action involved title to the ownership of $32,000 of the stock of the John Huberg company, big paper company, and the control of the management of the John Huberg company, and also the Huberg Pulp and Paper company, which the Hubergs acquired about two years ago.

Meets Death While Crazed.
Marquette.—While in a delirium, Henry Richards jumped from his bed at his home in Walsh and ran out of doors early in the morning and scattered himself in a daze quite a distance from the house. When found he was dead and his head was lying in a pool of water. In carrying the body home, the man was washed through water up to his knees. The man was married last December and a baby girl was born to the family ten days ago.

Menominee, Mich.—It is reported that there are about forty cases of Spanish influenza in the village of Cedar River, north of Menominee, on the bay shore. More than 100 cases, a prominent resident of the village, succumbed and was buried in Oconto. Mr. Caldwell, the husband, and a small son, are both ill with the same malady and were unable to attend the funeral of the wife and mother. The family formerly resided in Menominee.

The collapse of Austria-Hungary would enable allied armies to enter Germany through the latter's back door. Germany has no powerful defenses on the Austrian frontier such as she has on the French frontier. Through Austria-Hungary it is only a short distance from Italy to Germany.

FINANCE COMMITTEE EXTENDS REVENUE BILL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 29.—War excess profit taxes imposed only upon corporations in the war revenue bill as it passed the house, have been extended by the senate finance committee today to individuals in partnership in trade or business.

Under the committee's plan individual partnerships such as lawyers, doctors and professional men would not be subject to the war excess profit taxes made applicable only to those actually engaged in the war business. The amendment is stated to restore estimated revenue return from war excess profit to about $3,200,000, the sum proposed in the house bill but reduced by finance committee revisions.

NEW RULES OF TRAINING FOR OLDER SELECT MEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 29.—Older drafted men are to be put to shape for service through modified training exercises less arduous than the course designed for men between 21 and 31. Camp commanders were ordered today to train the men gradually, especially in the early stages so they will suffer no ill effects from too strenuous exercise or overwork.

ALLES ARE CLOSING IN ON GUISE

GENERAL DEBENY'S FIRST ARMY CONTINUES TO ADVANCE ON GUISE AND FALL OF CITY IS INEVITABLE.

AVIATORS ARE ACTIVE

General Pershing In His Communique Reports That Despite Bad Weather Yankee Flyers Are Busy.

Paris, Oct. 29.—General Debeney's first army continues to close in on Guise and has captured German first line trenches and the barracks and hospitals south of the Chateau in the town of Guise according to the war office statement today.

South of Guise the French have crossed beyond the Loupy farm. They also continued to make progress on the right bank of the Teron river.

Washington.—Continued aviation activity on the front of the first American army in spite of poor weather was reported by General Pershing today in his communique for Wednesday. Three enemy machines and an observation balloon were shot down and all American machines returned. Heavy artillery fire marked the day on both sides of the Meuse and the Allies prisoners were captured in a successful raid.

American Patrols
With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, American patrols along the center of the American front began long before daylight this morning with a furious bombardment. The enemy opened a heavy fire with machine guns at 2:30 o'clock which was changed to high explosives between four and five. The American artillery responded. American patrols were active in Bantheville wood all night.

Artillery Active
London.—Artillery duels and, in fact, encounters were the only activity on the British front during the night. Field Marshal Haig reports in his official statement today.

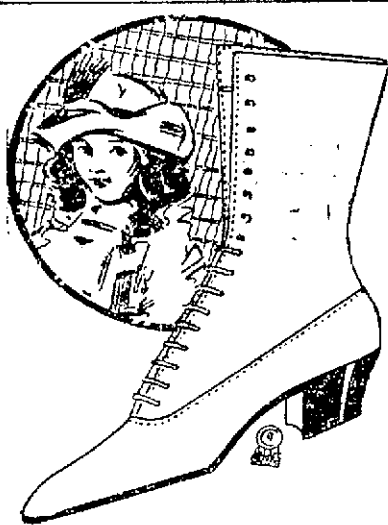

British Advance.
With the British army in France and Belgium, British fighting took place today near the Mont Thony wood, northwest of Fumars, south of Valenciennes. The German counter-attacks of the British in the wood, and last reports are that parts of the forest are held by both sides.

Downs Three Machines.
With the American army northwest of Verdun, three German airplanes are believed to have been brought down in an aerial battle over Bantheville late last night. The American patrol of eight machines and thirteen German planes.

"FLU" EPIDEMIC HAS DIMINISHED AND THE NEW CASES ARE MILD

INQUIRY AT PHYSICIAN'S OFFICES AND DRUG STORES SHOW DISEASE IS ON THE WANE

CRISIS HAS PASSED

Only Two Hundred and Eighty Six Now Receiving Medical Care And These Are Mild Cases

Janesville has passed through the "influenza" epidemic and is now ready to emerge from the ban which has been placed on business generally. At present there are but two hundred and eighty six cases reported by the physicians and the majority of these are mild and may in truth be regarded as colds rather than the real Spanish variety.

In fact in the past eight days, from Monday, October 21st to and including Monday, October 28th, there were only three hundred and fifty eight cases in the city all told. On Monday the physicians reported they had discharged eighty two cases with the increase for Sunday and Monday of two cases but sixty one.

Inquiry at the various drug stores show that the falling off in prescriptions for influenza during the past few days is quite noticeable, one of the best possible indications of the wane of the disease. In fact some of the druggists were direct in their statements that they did not think there ever had been half as many cases of the real genuine influenza in the city as had been totaled and that half the cases were merely bad colds or persons who became frightened.

Saturday is usually our busiest day for prescriptions," said one druggist, "and as an example of the decrease of the disease I put up only fifteen prescriptions and only one might be termed 'flu' medicine and many of the others were for pneumonia patients."

A second druggist stated that although he had only put up forty prescriptions for real genuine "flu." Another druggist stated that while at the start his first put up fifteen prescriptions he now did well to keep the average up to five. Two others reported similar experiences.

In fact but two druggists in the city made claims for any excessive number of prescriptions during the entire epidemic and they both stated that the past few days had seen a large diminution of the medicine bought. In fact, both had been for out of town patients and not in the city at all.

One prominent physician stated "if the physicians have been reporting all the cases they have, including the ones they are treating out of the city in rural districts perhaps we have had as serious an epidemic as has been depicted, but I honestly believe it has been greatly exaggerated and that we have not had a half of the cases in the city listed. I know that I have had several cases of bad colds that might have developed into pneumonia, but they could not be 'flu' cases."

Inquiry of three other physicians showed that from Saturday morning up to Monday night they had treated only ten new cases of what they diagnosed as genuine Spanish flu. One of the doctors said "I am afraid some of the cases reported as 'flu' were merely bad colds or the same side they were called flu for of course all precautions must be taken with even bad colds."

While the influenza has so materially decreased there can be no lifting of the closing ordinances ordered by the state health officer although some modification of the last order of Dr. Buckner, city health officer relative to the closing of the retail stores might be made and probably will as soon as that official is convinced that the present danger is past.

MATRIMONIAL

Healy-McBride.
Thursday morning at eight o'clock at St. Mary's church, John G. Healy of Beaver Dam and Miss May E. McBride of the town of Harmony were united in marriage by Rev. Charles Olson. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Anna, and the groom by John McBride, her brother. The bride was beautifully attired in white georgette crepe over white tulle and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, and the bridesmaid tastefully attired in a pink messaline gown and carried pink roses. The groom and best man wore conventional black. The groom is a popular attorney in Beaver Dam and the bride is a daughter of John H. McBride of the town of Harmony. She has been a successful teacher and has taught in the public schools of Beaver Dam. After a short sojourn the happy couple will be at home to their many friends in Beaver Dam.

County Board Will Meet: The County Board will hold their regular meeting November 12, at the Court House.

LABOR SHORTAGE FAILS TO STOP SUGAR CO.

Local Factory Running Full Blast Despite Labor Shortage. Expect Season to Last Until Christmas.

Despite the fact that they are about thirty men short, the Sugar Factory is going ahead every day and W. B. Davis, general manager of the plant stated yesterday that an exceptionally good year was expected at the plant.

The factory opened on the 21st of October this season and a great many new men were employed. In the past it has been the habit of the factory to turn each year to work at the factory but with the shortage of labor this season many of the old hands did not return.

Shipments of beets are being received on scheduled time and despite the congestion of railroads in some parts of the country the local factory is experiencing no setback from the beet shortage.

About two hundred men are employed at the factory at the present time and both a night and day shift are working. However, there is a labor shortage of men and Mr. Davis in discussing the situation stated that he could easily use thirty more men. He stated that it is hard to get the men to work at night and that the outside work which is necessary if the factory is going to operate.

Mr. Davis has been connected with the Sugar company for several years and has everything running in first class condition at the present time. "The men at the plant are aware of the labor shortage and they are willing to pitch in and do all they can to assist. Mr. Davis stated that he thought that the season would run nearly to Christmas this year."

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Oct. 29.—Word comes to the city from Hyltheville, Ark., that C. L. Cullen, who has been seriously ill, is recovering nicely and it is hoped that he will soon be able to be about again.

Herman Starke went to Madison this morning and will drive a new auto home.

John Henderson is working for the St. Paul company at Stoughton at the depot. Several of the crew at Stoughton are off duty with the influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McIntosh of Madison and Frank McIntosh of Wisconsin are here to attend the funeral of Mrs. McIntosh.

It. B. Hopkins shipped a valuable Holstein cow to his farm at Stoughton, Wis., yesterday.

Fourteen cars of sheep and six cars of cattle that had stopped enroute to feed at the local yards, were shipped out this morning. They will be shipped to the McIntosh Bros. are renting the office rooms in their warehouse that they recently purchased from T. E. Barle with a view of moving their office to that building from their present site.

J. Pollard returned the last of the week from Hollandale, where he has been assisting his son, George, with his farm work.

Frank Russell, who has been on the sick list, is able to be about again.

Mrs. John Burns was a Stoughton passenger on this morning. She is called at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. Roberts.

Rev. Brandt of Sheboygan, Wis., is in the city on the 29th of October. He is attending the funeral of the late Mrs. McIntosh.

Among the out-of-town people who were in the city yesterday and attended the funeral of the late Mrs. McIntosh, were Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. Otto and Mrs. A. Olson of Stoughton, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto of Horton.

The young ladies of the Aytakin club entertained at their club rooms last evening in honor of Miss Ada Davis. Their club rooms were decorated with hallowe'en decorations. The ladies were served a most pleasant evening is reported. Miss Davis will soon leave for Madison, where she has accepted a position.

Now that the drive is a thing of the past we should turn our efforts to filling our quota of war savings stamps. The quota for this district is something over $100,000.00 and the side of stamps at the present time is in the neighborhood of $80,000.00. Stamp pledges should be redeemed as fast as possible so as to clear our slate for the next demands our government will make.

Fire This Morning: The fire department was called out this morning to a chimney fire at the Finch residence on 333 South Locust street. It was extinguished by chemicals. No damage was done.

AVALON

Mary Reid
Avalon.—Mary, the youngest of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid was born at Cresco, Iowa Oct. 24, 1855 and died Oct. 27, 1918, being at the time of her death 23 years and three days old.

At the age of three she moved with her parents to Avalon, where she spent the remainder of her young life receiving her education in the school here and at the Janesville high school.

Here was an unselfish disposition. Always ready to render assistance to others, she never complained that it was too heavy for her. Early in August of this year, when the call came for nurses, feeling that her country needed her in this great war she enlisted as a student nurse.

She was ordered to report for duty Oct. 9, at the state hospital at Mendota, where although a little less than two weeks in the service, she had received her first promotion.

About a week before her death she contracted the malaria which resulted so fatally and although unwilling to give up her work nursing others whose conditions were worse than her own, she grew steadily worse until Sunday morning after hours of desperate struggle for life, she turned to her parents who were lovingly and anxiously watching and said "Mother, I am not afraid to go to sleep. I have sunk into that peaceful sleep that knows no waking here on earth."

She leaves to mourn her death besides her grief-stricken mother and other five sisters and brothers, Mrs. J. Waugh of Avalon, Mrs. Walter Kemmerer of Clinton, Mrs. Alex. Blinn of Dundee Ill., Archie Reid of La Prairie and John Reid of Avalon.

Funeral services were held from the home Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. C. A. O'Neill of Nekoma, Wis. The remains were tenderly laid away in Emerald Grove cemetery borne by the brothers and brothers-in-law.

Thus she goes to her last resting place with the honor of having sacrificed her life for her country and those who are left to try and solve the mystery of the great beyond can only say:

Sleep on, dear Mary,
Sleep and take thy rest,
Lay down thy head upon
Thy Savior's breast.
We loved thee well
But Jesus loved thee best.
Good night, good night, good night.

CHICAGO MARKETS

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 29.—A soaring hog market elicited various explanations. Prices were $1.50@3 above the low last week.

Rumor had it that a tip from Washington to protect the market did it; certainly some explanation is due the grower as to why stock that could not be sold at $14.50@15.50 last week justified a scramble to buy at $17 or at $18.

Armour and Swift kept the pot boiling all day in the season a scramble to get a slice of the crop established an $18.75 top, that price being paid for hogs worth $18.25 early in the session.

Announcement of a November minimum of $17.50 may have had something to do with it as packers may be under the necessity of taking hogs at higher prices this week to mark up their October averages, but the food administration is making no concealment of its intention to keep growers in a mood to feed hogs out, and the rise is partly attributed to that policy.

A liberal run of cattle also found a good market, prices advancing as the session advanced. A 25c gain was the rule, most steers being $1 higher than last week.

Live muttons were 25c higher $16.75.

being quotable for choice lambs. Local receipts were light and there was little at outside markets. The best lamb on the market sold at $18.00. A crop of 33,000 cattle carried 9,000 westerns and the usual grist of trash. Kansas City had only 15,000 with a thin beef top, and all western markets were light. Opening strong, prices advanced 25c before the close, $15.19 taking cattle worth $14@17 a week ago.

THE NEW BOOKS OF A THOUSAND SONGS

Melodies of Olden Times, the Whistled Tunes of Your Youth, Are Here

1000 BOUND TOGETHER

Liberal Offer Printed in This Paper Puts It Within Your Reach.

If there's an old song that lingers in your memory, for which you have searched thru dusty old books and which you have racked your brain to recall, it's a treat to find it in "The Book of a Thousand Songs."

If there's a rollicking tune which you used to whistle when you were a boy, or sing to the accompaniment of the old melody, you will likely find it in "The Book of a Thousand Songs." If there's a bit from a favorite opera which you enjoy, a patriotic song which stirred your soul when you first heard it, a song of your college days, an old hymn which mother used to sing—any of these you probably will discover again in "The Book of a Thousand Songs."

These songs of memory have been grouped with the songs of today in a volume which this paper will distribute thru an exceedingly liberal offer made in an advertisement printed on another page of this paper.

Once you have taken the book in hand, and leafed thru its 536 pages, you will be assured of its worth. Before you have seen it, a brief description may help you form an idea of how it looks and what it contains.

The book is 7½ by 10 inches in size. It is bound in durable English cloth. The pages and type are large enough for the pianist, and handy enough for the vocalist.

Two indexes provide easy searching for the songs. One classifies the 1000 songs alphabetically. The other classifies them according to subjects. There are 121 home songs, 45 sacred songs, 75 southern songs, 9 rounds, 226 sentimental songs, 39 hymns, 123 children's songs, 55 patriotic songs, 32 operatic songs, 77 college songs, 30 sea songs and 53 national songs.

The coupon printed in another column of this paper explains how this book is being distributed to readers. Suffice it to say here that the cost is less than one-tenth of 1 cent for each song.

WANT RECORDS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Music is a war weapon. Army commanders have proved by experience that music is so important to the morale of the army, in any single force, in their older life. The National Phonograph-Records Recruiting Corps want all the records that anyone could give them. Records that you are tired of in your home, the boys in France, in the camps, and on shipboard will enjoy and appreciate very much. Any one having records that they do not care for anyone wishing to buy records, needles, or even a phonograph for the boys in service they will please leave them at the local music store or send them to the National Phonograph-Records Recruiting Corps, at New York and they will tell them where they are to be sent. All records, needles and anything in the line of music must be taken to the local music stores before November 9.

FOOTVILLE

Footville, Oct. 26.—Frank Bleedorn recently resigned his barn. M. Chapman resumed his work at the condensation after an absence of more than a week during which time he was working at home.

Friends of Mrs. R. J. Sarasy will be glad to know that she is now able to be up a part of the time after a severe attack of influenza.

Will Honesett is husking corn for Will Silverthorn who has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Many from the village and vicinity went to Beloit today to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. J. W. Sauter who died Sunday.

Friends of Fred Bemis will be glad to learn that he is not getting along as well as all could wish and is experiencing some difficulty with stomach trouble although perhaps not of a serious nature.

John Devins and wife recently returned having been some days with their daughter in Beloit.

Word comes from Ray Buck that he is now in some eastern camp awaiting orders to go overseas.

It is reported that the Burnett family are reported to be convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nichols recently entertained relatives from out of town.

Those of Russell Cowan will be glad to know that there has been a decided improvement in his case, and all are hoping he may soon be out of the hospital.

Charles Stephens is also reported as gaining, although still under the physician's care.

All will regret to learn that Paul Stevens, who has been critically ill with pneumonia, but who had gotten so far as he could sit up a little has had a relapse and will be again confined to his bed for some days longer.

This applies only to those who are still in the United States.

Miss Hazel Hastings has been absent from the condensation, suffering from an attack of influenza.

On sale at St. Joseph's Convent, Identification cards and pocket folders for soldiers and sailors. Also numerous religious articles.

ROCK COUNTY GIVEN THIRD PLACE IN STATE

FINAL FIGURES IN THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN PLACE ROCK COUNTY THIRD IN LIST WITH A PERCENTAGE OF 122.97.

WAUPACA CO. LEADS

Northern County With a Percentage of 147.71 Is Awarded First Place in Wisconsin

Rock County with total subscriptions of $3,654,650 or a 122.97 percent is rated as the third highest county in the state in the Fourth Liberty Loan. Kenosha county is given first place in the state and Waupaca county is awarded second place.

Rock county had the fourth largest quota in the state of Wisconsin, and the showing made by this county in the campaign is one that the residents can be justly proud of and it is certain that the Rock county boys now fighting in France will be pleased with the result.

Every city and village in Rock county went away over the top in the fourth campaign and with the exception of one or two townships, the entire county was one hundred percent or better.

Rock County's quota in the fourth loan was larger than in any of the previous loans and the showing made is ample proof of the loyalty of the residents of Rock county. Following is a list of the first ten counties in the state, and their allotments and oversubscriptions.

County	Quota	Subscribed	% of Quota	Rank
Kenosha	$2,301,200	$3,682,100	147.71	1
Waupaca	1,280,650	1,650,850	128.91	2
Rock	2,701,500	3,654,650	122.97	3
Racine	3,601,800	4,200,000	116.61	4
Manitowish	1,140,850	1,244,400	108.99	5
Winnebago	3,201,850	3,612,950	112.88	6
Outagamie	2,421,200	2,720,550	112.36	7
Wood	1,470,750	1,650,000	112.19	8
Waushara	1,991,000	2,200,000	110.50	9

REDUCTION IN PAGES NECESSARY

The War Industries Board, through the Pulp and Paper section, has ordered a fifteen percent reduction in the size of the paper used by all newspapers in the United States.

To comply with the government's order, it is necessary that the size of the paper be reduced to the minimum of pages at such times as this is possible.

This will be done without great curtailment of news and features only.

Gazette readers are given this explanation for the reduction in the size of the paper.

The manufacturers of paper can only be retained in the essential class of industries through the fifteen percent saving.

RED CROSS TRAINING DRIVERS FOR SERVICE

Six weeks ago today, Major H. P. Harding, a well known Automotive Engineer of Chicago, was called to the American Red Cross Headquarters at Washington, D. C. He was told that the Director of Motor Transportation of France called that there was an urgent need of experienced automobile drivers and that 1800 should be trained and sent over for duty at the earliest possible moment, not later than January 1st, 1919.

A few minutes conference Major Harding told the committee that he would comply with the request of the cable and thoroughly train the men in military discipline and mechanical lines, which they left for overseas.

Within forty-eight hours he was in Chicago and had taken over suitable property with adequate buildings and equipment, and had housed over five hundred men. Two weeks later three hundred and fifty men were in training, each fully equipped.

A thorough method of instruction was instituted, consisting of rebuilding motors, axles, transmissions, and, in fact, reassembling of all parts of an automobile. Practical demonstrations of all possible breakdowns and accidents are shown, together with the quickest method of repairing. Spacious grounds adjoining the barracks were reserved for the worst part of No-Man's Land, consisting of its shell holes, brick formations, deep sand and mud holes. The men are required to drive a car course daily under various conditions.

During the fifth week 155 expert drivers, thoroughly trained along military lines, left for France to take the important duties assigned them; last Sunday 125 more left, and Major Harding promises to have the required 1800 before January 1st.

This section is open to men under eighteen years, or over forty-five years of age, also to men in deferred classification. It is necessary that the applicant have at least a year's driving experience.

Forty dollars a month and maintenance, including equipment, is paid after sailing; but pay and maintenance are not paid until the men have been in training for a week. The headquarters for application is the Automotive and Mechanical Section, 528 Peoples' Gas Building, Chicago, Ill.

RUBBER OILION SOUVENIR OF ILICIT WAR TRADE

A rubber oilion, resembling a Bermuda oilion, of the kind shipped from the United States through Denmark to Germany at the outbreak of the European war, is being shown at the headquarters recently acquired by the State Historical museum. The oilion is made of strips of raw rubber, carefully wound to resemble a real oilion. Many of these were shipped in sacks with real oilions and from Denmark the rubber oilions were forwarded to Germany.

The practice was not up until the United States entered the war until detected by secret service agents. The relic was presented to the museum by George Parker of this city.

10 Sale—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Smith's Pharmacy.

BECKOLYN

Brooklyn, Oct. 28.—Clara H. Peterson was born August 16, 1884 on the old homestead south of Brooklyn, and died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nels Peterson in Brooklyn, Sunday, October 28th. She was a graduate of the Brooklyn high school, studied music at Stoughton for two years, after which she attended the Whitewater normal school and graduated from the normal course of that school. Since her graduation she has been teaching the primary grades in the Brooklyn public schools. Twelve years ago she became a member of the Brooklyn M. DAILY PRAYER.

Make Thyself, O Lord, a living reality to us in our days of darkness and loneliness and discouragement. That we may know that our cause is Thine, and that the eternal legions of truth and righteousness fight on our side. Schenck, our hearts to fellowship with all who share this holy duty with us and our faculties to fight to work and to endure, confident of victory and peace by Thy good favor, Amen.

PATRIOTIC WORK.

Up at the court house, and in every community of the state, you will find lawyers who are engaged in the patriotic but thankless task of aiding the conscripts make out their questionnaires properly. These gentlemen are doing a wonderful work and should be more than thanked or commended for their untiring efforts in behalf of the federal government in this war crisis. They are neglecting their own work to give free service to the individuals to whom this questionnaire problem is like so much of the ancient Egyptian picture writing. Here in Rock county the conscription board has the highest of commendation, and M. D. Mount, upon whose shoulders falls the bulk of the work should be especially thanked for the service he is rendering his fellow citizens and the government as a whole. It is this untiring and unselfish work on the part of our citizens that is enabling the United States to win the war. These men are doing as much for their country as they could in shattering a rifle and by so doing are enabling the government to properly classify its citizens so they may be called into service without detriment to the best interests of the state and nation as a whole.

HARDLY A RIFLE.

Perhaps to election in years over approached election that has caused less mental disturbance than the coming state election next Tuesday, November 5th. Of course the Liberty Loan campaign came first and kept the candidates from appearing on the stump and then came the influenza and the strain was kicked entirely from beneath the candidates' feet and they have had to resort to the mail and newspapers to place their views before the people of the state. It is a foregone conclusion that Phillips and the republican state ticket will be elected and the majority of the republican congressional candidates will be successful owing to the fact that the democrats failed to cast enough ballots at the last election to be placed on the ticket. In some districts, as in the first, there is a regular republican nominee, Judge Randall, a democratic nominee, Calvin Stearns, and an independent republican candidate, Henry Allen Cooper. This three-cornered fight may lead to complications, but it is more than probable either Randall or Cooper will be named. In Rock county there is no democratic opposition to legislative candidates or county officials so their election is assured. The question of the election of the state, which leads to the thought the republican ticket will be successful from top to bottom. It is certain that the state election of nineteen eighteen will be remarkable in years to come for the actual lack of interest displayed in the pre-election days.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION.

The great fault with old-fashioned education has been that it was too much book work. The young people have been required to follow traditional lines of thought laid out in past ages. They have become mentally inert, good reasoners, agile in argument.

But there has been a failure to develop the planning, constructive, active faculties. The children have been too much spectators in the world of action learning what other people have done before them, but not doing things for themselves. Their mental eyes were closed, but their physical eyes were closed. They acquired no faculties of observation.

It has often happened that boys brought up in the rough and tumble of work, without much schooling, have succeeded better than well educated men. The uneducated man learned in his experience how to keep his eyes open. He closely observed all details in whatever material he handled. He studied the people he came in contact with, and had a pretty good idea of what they would do under any circumstances. Put him out in some difficult situation in actual life, and all this practical experience counted, and he could originate some way to handle it. Book work does not solve many of these problems.

During recent years, feeling that education must somehow give these powers not taught in old-fashioned book work, educators have introduced manual training in various kinds of hand work. Excellent results are being accomplished where the work is well handled.

Children who never could be interested in books, who learned from the printed page only with the greatest difficulty, have had a new world of interest open to them. The faculties with which they were gifted have been aroused. They have been put in the way of making successful men and women.

MAKE THEM PAY.

It is a fundamental principle of life that people ought to pay for the damage they do. If this principle is not exacted upon them, it encourages them to go on and commit other outrages.

Hence in considering German peace offers, it is absolutely necessary to hold them down to the principle of compensation for the damage they have done. They have ruthlessly and brutally laid waste and sacked the fair cities and fields of France, Belgium, Serbia, Rumania and Poland. They gained no military advantage thereby. They willfully broke the laws of war in doing it. Their only purpose was to terrorize the world into submission by making themselves as frightful and beastly as possible.

The trouble with the Germans is that up to now they have always made war a paying business proposition. Make war pay for war, has been their motto. By jumping on other nations treacherously and unprovoked, they always expected to make war on the soil of their foes, so that the German's home country should never sustain any damage. Then they expect the costs of the war to be made up by the looting of indemnities by scaling of valuable territory. They made the war of 1870 with France pay by a crushing indemnity, and by scaling the enormously valuable iron mines and other resources of Alsace-Lorraine.

Now if we insist that Germany pay the damages she has done, it will get through the thick and pony heads of the fumes that the time when war could be made to pay as a national industry has gone by. The damages she has committed in this war, the destruction of life, she can never pay for in cash, though she will pay for them in the hatred of mankind she must pay her physical damage bills, or we have lost the war.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

ROY K. MOUTON

October 17—Shot again. This time in the shoulder. Bad shooting. I'll say. Quick trip to the hospital. 10:30 and all ready to be shot again. No wonder the Russians can't win a war with their kind of marksmanship.

"N" shows the spot where the bullets land on me. I look like a tattooed man. There is room for only three more. "N" on my whole frame. Doctor discovered this morning that I had been shot twice in the same place, which is against the Bolshevik rule and makes a mess of my chart record.

Received today a letter offer from an amusement park at Coney Island to pose as the "Dusky Dodger" at a shooting gallery. May accept when the time comes.

Dull day today. Shot only once up to noon. May have better luck this afternoon, as I shall drive on the avenue.

Surgeon estimated roughly that enough lead had been shot into me by Russians to free their country of Bolshevism and everything else except colds. "Colds" are so small to be shot. Yankies might hit 'em but no Russian can.

1:01 P. M.—Just shot again. Must have hit sign on office door reading, "Will be back again from Hospital in fifteen minutes," and leave sign there permanently.

Not injured this time. Was shot in head. More bad marksmanship.

NOTHER HYMN OF HATE

We have one in
and by one alone—
Spanish.

It not being announced elsewhere in this newspaper or any other, having been lost in the shuffle of important events, we wish to state, so that our readers at least will know it (we got the news by special carrier pigeon, the cables being too busy), that Shu Shu Chang was inaugurated as president of China on October 10. We make this announcement just to keep the record straight. Chronology must have its fling, war or no war.

A learned scientist has solved the problem which has worried humanity for these many years. He has discovered that goldfish die of exhaustion from wagging their little tails around the interior of the globe. Always thought they died of too much publicity and that embarrassing embarrassment. However, regardless of the scientist, we have known at least seven goldfish who have died of catfish and six others which furnished the first course at a recent dinner party under the guise of Siberian hars d'oeuvres.

LENROOT ENDORSES REPUBLICAN PARTY AT THE ELECTION

Senator Irvine L. Lenroot has written a letter to Chairman George A. West of the Republican state committee in which he urges the support of the Republican state ticket, paying a high tribute to the state administration and pays his respects to the Democratic party in congress.

The letter follows:
While circumstances have rendered it impossible for political parties to conduct as aggressive a campaign as usual, I trust the voters of Wisconsin will not overlook the fact that to vote on Nov. 5 nor the importance of electing the Republican ticket.

"The record of the state administration in the conduct of all war activities where governmental action is involved is excellent by no state in the union. Certainly no state controlled by the Democrats has as good a record as Wisconsin and it is sheer hypocrisy upon the part of the Democratic organization to claim that their nominee would do more in the vigorous prosecution of the war than Gov. Philipp has done.

Their sincerity is easily put to the test: Do they anywhere denounce Champ Clark, the Democratic speaker of the house, for opposing conscription; Mr. Kitchin, the Democratic leader, for voting against wear; Mr. Dent, the chairman of the war committee, for deserting President Wilson and compelling him to rely upon Mr. Kahn, a Republican, to lead the fight for the draft bill?

Have they exacted any pledge from their Democratic nominees for congress if elected to vote against Clark, Kitchin and Dent in the organization of the house? Of course they have not and if any Democrat is elected to congress from Wisconsin he will vote for these three men or be read out of the Democratic party.

"On the other hand, every Republican elected from Wisconsin will vote for a Republican organization, an organization that has supported the war since the first day when his own Democratic leaders deserted him. I feel sure that the voters of Wisconsin will condemn the insincere campaign being conducted by the Democrats and will elect Gov. Philipp and the Republican ticket."

Milton Junction

Milton Junction, Oct. 29.—Iris, nine years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fisher, passed away at the home of Mrs. E. D. Clark, Monday morning, as a result of pneumonia. Iris, with her people, recently came to Mrs. Clark from their north, being kept out by the forest fires. Funeral services will be held from the home of Mrs. Clark on Tuesday afternoon. Interment in Milton Junction cemetery.

Why Putter With Corns? Use "Gets-It"

Common-Sense, Simple, Never Fails.

You can tear out your corns and suffer or you can peel off your corns and smile. The joy-peeling way is the "Gets-It" way. It is the only happy, painless way in the world. Two drops of "Gets-It" on any corn or callus dries once. The corn finally peels off from the foot so that you can peel it off with your fingers in one piece, painlessly. Like peeling a banana. "Great stuff. Wish I'd done that before."

There's only one corn-peeler—"Gets-It." It wraps up big with tape and bandages, does not harm from irritating salves, its all a barbarity. These wounds, cuts, blisters and ulcers, that's butchery, ridiculous, unnecessary, dangerous. Use "Gets-It," the liberty-giving, painless, sure way. Don't take no chances. Get "Gets-It." Don't be insulted by imitations. See that you get "Gets-It."

"Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back, corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a tiny bit as any drug store. Get it by Lawrence J. Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Janesville, and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Smith Drug Co.

Whether you come to Milwaukee on business or purely for pleasure we believe that we can make you happy at the Hotel.

There's dancing in the Badger Room every evening from six till eight thirty—and from ten till closing. A wonderful dancing floor and delightful music.

STOP—READ AND THINK

Have You Seen That Poster of

Calvin Stewart

Nominee For REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS

It charges no one with disloyalty or dishonesty. It shows where such men as Wm. H. Taft, Cardinal Gibbons, Samuel Compers, Alton E. Parker, Henry Van Dyke, John Sharp Williams, A. Lawrence Lowell, Cyrus H. Curtis, and others, have said to him, "We want your help in a convention on Win the War for Permanent Peace," etc. This was one of the most important conventions ever held. And, if MR. STEWART'S help was wanted in that convention by such men, don't you think we need him in Congress, especially at this time?

REMEMBER In 1898 the Republicans had full control in Congress. Mr. Roosevelt then said it would not do to elect a Democratic Congress for that would be regarded in Spain as a repudiation of the party in power. Ex-President Harrison said the same thing, if that doctrine applied when we were fighting a small power like Spain.

How much more ought it to count now when the world is on fire and the earth is being drenched with human blood, when the very life of the nation is at stake? How much more important that the people should stand loyally behind President Wilson and elect a Democratic Congress?

We have tried to appeal to your intelligence (not prejudice) on behalf of MR. STEWART'S candidacy, and ask you to SEE and READ that POSTER before you vote. You may also there see his plan for increasing our Merchant Marine—What he said of our President more than two years ago—and what Czar's History of Wisconsin says of him.

READ THE POSTER BEFORE YOU VOTE! IT CONTAINS NO MISSTATEMENTS, NO CAMOUFLAGE, NO ABUSE.

Forty Years Ago

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Oct. 29, 1878. A new sixty-horse power boiler has been put in at the cotton factory. It was found that the old one, of forty-horse power, was hardly sufficient to meet the wants, but with this additional one there will be an abundance of steam for all purposes. Yesterday afternoon a party of young fellows from Emerald Grove got into a wrangle. They finally quieted down and went into Marshall's saloon together and there the quarrel broke out again, and the sparring between two of them, both young lads, was a sight to see. Officer Parker tried to arrest the two and had them on the way to the station when one of the number jumped on the officer, knocking him down. Parker managed to land two of them and the other is expected to be caught soon. One of the biggest fires in the history of Janesville occurred last night, when Ridel's grocery store caught fire, spreading to Nash & Lee's store. Mike Farrell's store was also ruined. The blaze also destroyed some of the stock of Cairns Bros. However, the stock of the latter firm is only slightly damaged, while the other stores are completely destroyed. The belief is that some villain started the fire. The total loss is probably somewhere near $5,000.

CHAPTER X.

A Grave Is Opened.

It was midday. All still-hat-Abbes seemed to be asleep. The streets were almost empty, and a lazy hush hung over the deserted cafes where a few indefatigable tourists dozed beneath the gayly striped awnings, watched over by waiters themselves half-comatose with sleep and indifference.

In the Cafe du Tonkin the repose was absolute and unbroken. There was only one watcher. Presently foot-steps sounded on the stone flags outside. She got up and crossed the uneven floor to the door. Her movements were lithic and noiseless like an animal's, and not one of the heavy sleepers stirred. In the narrow passage which led from the street to the entrance of the cafe a man in European dress waited for her. There was something furtive and restless in his movements that suggested a fear more subtle than that of danger. The girl touched him on his arm, and without a word he followed her across the room of sleepers through a curtained doorway into a second apartment. Here there was no door or window. A charcoal brazier burned in the center, and its dull sullen glow lighted up the shadows and revealed phantom outlines of low divans and oriental tables, and laid their dirt and disorder in soft mysterious twilight.

The girl put her hands upon her companion's shoulders and looked up at him. He had removed his hat, and the somber light spread a pale repellent reflection over his white features. It was as though an artificial life had been conjured into the face of a dead man.

"You are changed, Desire. What has happened in these days? Has there been no comfort for you?"

His eyes opened. He threw back his head so that they looked each other in the face.

"I tried to kill him," he said quietly but distinctly, "and I mean to kill him. That is the only change."

"Is that any change? Has it taught your fair, pure young wife to love and honor you?" He ground his teeth together without answering, and she went on, her voice grown suddenly harsh and contemptuous. "You are a fool, Desire. You are a fool, like all men. What is there in this one woman that you should care? She is pretty, but others are prettier. I have seen her, for it amused me to have a glance at the wonder who could drive two men to the devil. And what is she? A charming doll with a child's eyes and a sparrow's brain. What else?"

"For God's Sake, Don't Jest With Me!"

The girl rose. She took one of the long-stemmed pipes from the table and lit it at the brazier. The red embers glowed up on to her face, where was written a somber inscrutable tenderness. She came back and placed the pipe in his inert hand.

"There," she said simply. "That is what you have come for. Forgetfulness."

He nodded. Silently he covered back among the ragged cushions and with half-closed eyes began to smoke. In the bowl there was perfect silence. As the minutes passed the subtle magic perfume sleeping beneath the rank sweetness awoke, the lurking dreams and fancies came out from among their shadows and moved dutifully to and fro in the brightening circle of twilight. Arnaud smiled wistfully at them. Little by little the terrible lines of pain drawn about his features passed, leaving them a white peace. A sigh broke from his loosely parted lips.

"Sybil—Sybil—my wife—"

His head dropped back—the strange-stemmed pipe slipped from his powerless fingers and fell with a soft thud to the floor. The woman bent over him and kissed him. A single tear, drawn from a well of savage pity, had dropped on the untroubled brow.

"God of our fathers," she whispered from between clenched teeth, "Thou knowest I am mad—rotten to the heart—but thou knowest also I am not so mad as the woman who sent this man to me."

She knelt down, and with her dark head against the sleeper's knee watched and waited.

All was quiet. But on the other side of the curtain an Arab crouching beside the brazier awoke. There was a slight smile about his lips as though his dreams had brought him food for amused reflection, and with a quick glance at his motionless companion he got up and slipped out into the street.

It was now toward evening and the great heat of the day was broken. At a white-walled villa on one of the broad avenues he glided through a Moorish doorway into the passage. Before him lay the courtyard where two women talked, their low voices mingling musically. At last he came out into the light. His manner was inimitable in its suggested homage and a hundred unspoken tatteries.

"Madame, it's About-Yakoud who ventures before you," he said in his soft Arab French. "About-Yakoud, who has seen Mecca and who reads Destiny as an open book. Give me your hand, madame. For a little franc, I will tell you good and evil—what was and what is to come."

Sybil Arnaud started slightly and turned.

"You shall not come in here," she said impatiently, and yet not without a childish touch of hesitation. "Begging is forbidden. Now be gone!"

She tossed a handful of money on to the white stone flags. Each coin rang out like a note of jangling laughter, which still echoed after her as she passed into the shadows of the gateway.

About-Yakoud bent and gathered the quick pieces from the ground. When he looked up again he stood straight and erect, and the beard had vanished.

"Gabrielle!" he said softly.

She turned a little. The warm glow of evening was on her face and sort of the stern lines to a mild and noble serenity.

"I know," she said. "Your voice betrayed you. And then—sooner or later I felt that you would come, though for what purpose God knows."

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Ever since spring I have kept company with a man who seemed to be crazy about me. He is a man in his thirties and has grown to be more and more of a woman hater. I am the first girl he has cared for in some time. The last few times we have been together he has not seemed the same. He has not asked for evenings.

Just so he could be sure he would be with me. I did not realize that I was falling in love with him. I know it is too late now, but I am sure that I should have known it sooner. I have not lost interest in you until you have some real reason for thinking so.

Don't tell me to go with other men. I can't. All the men I know have gone to war. This man holds a very important position in a war industry. You must stop worrying. Fear never brings happy results. The end can be no worse if you are free from worry until it comes. Probably the man has learned that he can depend upon you at all times and he does not feel it necessary to make engagements far into the future. It will be wise for you to make engagements with other people—girl friends or relatives—since the boys are gone. If he finds he cannot have you every time he wants you, he will be all the more eager to be with you and will resume his old method of engaging evenings in advance.

It is nonsense to imagine that he has lost interest in you until you have some real reason for thinking so.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Please tell what a bride should say when introduced to her mother-in-law whom she has never seen before. Don't you think she should say something more than just merely "I am glad to meet you?" (2) Please tell me how a girl who is not so pretty, but talented, can

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When going in a cafe it is proper for the lady to sit with her back or face to the door? A woman should never go anywhere alone. The woman usually takes the seat which affords the best view of the crowd.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would like to write to soldiers or sailors. I write a great deal and I would like to hear from them. I am not happy with a needle and I should like to help in that way rather than at a dressmaker's.
